Information sheet:
Leon S. Peters Burn Center and Table Mountain Rancheria Level 1 Trauma Center

Background
Community Regional Medical Center is home to central California’s only Level 1 trauma center and comprehensive, regional burn center. The Level 1 designation is the highest level of distinction for trauma care. No other hospital from Los Angeles to Sacramento can provide this level of care. To achieve Level 1 status, Community has met strict guidelines concerning patient care and is certified to provide medical care for the most critically injured patients, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The Leon S. Peters Burn Center and Table Mountain Rancheria Level 1 Trauma Center provide acute and intensive care services for adult and pediatric burn and trauma patients, burn wound care for inpatients and outpatients as well as a hyperbaric oxygen program. In addition to treating burn and trauma victims, the two centers are dedicated to educating the public on the importance of injury and burn prevention.

Burn and trauma services are primarily housed in the 340,000-square-foot trauma and critical care building located on the 58-acre Community Regional campus in downtown Fresno. The six-story trauma and critical care building features 68 intensive care rooms, 10 burn center rooms and an expanded outpatient burn and hyperbaric medicine center in the adjacent outpatient burn clinic.
