

Fact sheet:

Clovis Community Medical Center Expansion Project

Background

Clovis Community Medical Center's service area is projected to grow by 15,000 people in the next five years and see a 43% increase in overall growth in the next 20 years. To meet this growth, Clovis Community embarked on a massive $300 million expansion and renovation project.

With its Outpatient Care Center renovation complete, construction is now focused on the hospital's inpatient expansion project. Scheduled to be completed in 2013, this expansion and renovation will nearly double the hospital's capacity to 205 private rooms – making Clovis Community the first full-service hospital in the area with all private rooms. In addition, the Clovis expansion could be the single biggest job-creation project in Fresno County over the next few years, creating approximately 4,000 construction jobs.

All private rooms

- Conveniently spacious
- A quiet, serene setting for patient healing
- The latest high-tech systems and technology – from entertainment systems to medical equipment
- Allows patients best possible comforts while recovering
