

Fact sheet: Community Medical Centers

Who we are

Community Medical Centers is a locally owned, not-for-profit, public-benefit organization providing central California with acute care, outpatient centers, clinics, home care, community education, physician groups and a physician residency program in conjunction with the University of California, San Francisco.

Based in Fresno, Community is the region's largest health care provider and private employer. It operates central California's only Level 1 trauma center and comprehensive, regional burn center. It is home to the Central California Neuroscience Institute, the region's only high-risk pregnancy unit, and a level III neonatal intensive care unit that provides the highest level of care for infants.

Community serves as the area's essential "safety-net" provider. In fiscal year 2009-2010, Community provided nearly $174 million in unpaid services to the medically underserved as a benefit to the community. Community also is a leader in urban redevelopment and growth with the continuing construction at Community Regional Medical Center in downtown Fresno and the renovation and expansion of Clovis Community Medical Center.
