Central California's Leading Healthcare System

Community Health System started when local physicians joined forces with Celia Burnett, a boarding house proprietor, to open a private hospital in 1897 — and we've been evolving ever since. Community Health System is a locally owned, not-for-profit, public-benefit organization based in Fresno, California. We are the region's largest private employer and healthcare provider caring for the most patients in our region. We operate a residency program with one of the nation's top medical schools, the University of California, San Francisco.

'To better the lives of all those we serve' isn't just our mission, it's our calling. Today, we're serving a larger, more diverse population of patients whose needs are different than those of past generations. To meet the growing healthcare needs of the Central San Joaquin Valley, Community Health System has grown to include hospitals, physicians and health insurance.

Community Medical Centers

We operate four inpatient hospitals — Community Regional Medical Center, Clovis Community Medical Center, Fresno Heart & Surgical Hospital and Community Behavioral Health Center — as well as the Community Cancer Institute and several outpatient, long-term care and other healthcare facilities. With nearly 1,300 inpatient beds, Community Medical Centers is known for being the best and busiest healthcare provider in the region, providing about 60% of Fresno County's inpatient hospital care. We also serve as the Valley's "safety net" provider, caring for a large share of the uninsured and underinsured in Central California.

Community Provider Network

Our growing Community Provider Network allows for different types of affiliations to accommodate all Valley physicians who wish to align with Community Health System. We consider all physicians with privileges in our hospitals, or those who refer to us, as part of our network and continue to work together toward building key programs, treating underserved patient communities, recruiting new physicians to our region and growing specialized services. Community Provider Network is a fast-growing network of primary care and specialty providers who partner with us to improve access to healthcare directly and invest in bringing new physicians, education and research resources to the Valley.

Community Care Health

Our health plan, Community Care Health, is one of the Valley's largest commercial HMO plans, providing over 13,500 members access to a broad network of 2,500+ affiliated providers, hundreds of practices and 20 urgent care locations.

Building for a Better Tomorrow

Completion of expansion and improvement building projects demonstrates our ongoing commitment to meeting the healthcare needs of the people who call the Valley home. A multi-year expansion of Clovis Community Medical Center, completed in fall 2022, added a 5-story bed tower, additional operating rooms, expanded emergency department, advanced technology and a Heart & Lung Institute to the hospital.

And we're planning for more improvements in the years to come at Community Regional Medical Center, including renovation of a 154-bed skilled nursing facility (named the Burnett Extended Care Center) and The Bob Smittcamp Family Neurosciences Institute.
